Overview

Every Supplier is expected to meet these standards in connection with the operations of its business. Suppliers should establish and enforce policies which comply and align with the expectations of this Supplier Code. Suppliers are also expected to apply comparable standards downstream in their own supply chains.

This Supplier Code of Conduct ("Supplier Code") outlines our expectations of Suppliers. A Supplier's contract with Source may contain provisions addressing some of these same issues. Nothing in this Supplier Code is meant to supersede more stringent provisions in any particular contract.

Violations of this Supplier Code are taken seriously and must be reported upon discovery by the Supplier, and promptly take action to address or remove these practices.

Principals:

Human Rights

The Supplier shall treat workers with dignity and respect and not subject them to demeaning conditions or any form of harassment including sexual harassment.

The Supplier shall foster a culture that seeks to promote equal opportunities for all. The Supplier shall not tolerate discrimination on the basis of race, colour, gender, caste, social background, sexual orientation, ethnicity, national origin, disability, pregnancy, religion, political affiliation, union membership, marital status, medical condition or any other personal characteristic prohibited by local law or regulation applicable to your operations.

The Supplier should nurture an environment where business standards are clearly understood and there are clear channels for individuals to communicate openly with management without threat of retaliation, intimidation, or harassment.

Labour and Modern Slavery

The Supplier shall not use forced or involuntary labour nor demand work or service from an individual under threat. Work must be conducted based on freely agreed terms and in accordance with labour laws or industry practice, whichever is better with regard to wages, and health and safety conditions in the workplace. The Supplier shall not withhold or destroy, conceal, confiscate, or deny access by workers to workers' identity or immigration documents. The Supplier shall not require nonprofessional migrant workers to bear any costs or fees associated with their recruitment, travel, or migration processing.

The Supplier shall not exploit child labour and shall not employ any workers under the age of 14 or the minimum legal working age, whichever is greater. Employment of workers under the age of 18 should not interfere with their compulsory education and should not, by the nature of the work or circumstances in which it is carried out, be likely to harm their health, safety, or morals.

The Supplier is encouraged to develop and use environmentally friendly innovations and practices that reduce negative environmental impacts.

Integrity, Ethics, and Anti-corruption

The Supplier shall not engage in any illegal or unethical behaviour. The Supplier is expected to uphold standards of fair business practices. Confidentiality & Privacy

The Supplier shall abide by its obligations relating to the protection, collection, and proper handling of confidential and personal information.

Conflict of Interest
